The Directory of Services for Indonesian Trafficking Victims and Exploited Migrant Workers was developed in the framework of NEXUS Institute's project Protecting the Unassisted and Underserved. Evidence-Based Research on Assistance and Reintegration in Indonesia, funded by the U.S. Department of State Office to Monitor and Combat Trafficking in Persons (J/TIP). We are grateful for J/TIP's generous support and for prioritizing efforts to improve assistance and reintegration services for trafficking victims. Reintegration assistance is a critical aspect of the anti-trafficking response in any country and we are proud to be cooperating with the Government of Indonesia to better understand and enhance assistance and reintegration efforts in the country.

This Directory of Services is for trafficking victims and exploited migrants, to inform them about available assistance and how they can access these services. We have learned over the course of this project that many trafficking victims and exploited migrants do not know what services they are entitled to and how to access the different forms of assistance, which are often integral to their reintegration. Trafficked persons and exploited migrants require and are entitled to clear, concrete and comprehensible information about what support can be found in their districts and communities and how to access this assistance as they recover and reintegrate after trafficking exploitation. This Directory of Services is intended to provide them with this critical information and, as such, is an important resource in assistance to trafficked persons.

The Directory of Services for Indonesian Trafficking Victims and Exploited Migrant Workers is the product of our collaboration with many institutions and organizations in Indonesia. We are particularly grateful for our partnership with the Ministry of Social Affairs and the Ministry of Women's Empowerment and Child Protection and we would like to recognize the important contribution of the following individuals and institutions in the development of this Directory of Services:
